

Clara Gaymard

Clara Gaymard, 50, is Vice President, government strategy and sales for GE International and National Executive for GE in France.

Clara joined GE three years ago as National Executive for GE in France. In 2008 she was appointed as the Regional Executive for GE in Northwestern Europe. In April of this year she was appointed to head GE's Government strategy and sales initiative outside of the United States.

Clara has been responsible for building a strong country strategy for GE in close coordination with the GE businesses to identify and promote growth opportunities for GE in France. She has played a key role in several landmark transactions with the French Government and major customers.

Prior to joining GE, Clara was Ambassador, president of Invest in France Agency, in charge of promoting foreign investments in France. Before that, she was a Deputy Director in the French Ministry of Finance.

Clara is a graduate from the ENA, the French national school of administration, holds a Masters degree in Political Science from The Paris Institute of Political Studies, and a degree in law and history.

In France, she is Chevalier of the National Merit Order and Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur and is a Commendatore of the Italian Republic Merit Order.

Clara is also the author of several published works.

Clara lives in Paris with her husband, Hervé, and their 9 children.